Cultural Competencies in Training: Foci on Older Adults, Veterans, Asian/Asian Americans, and Women

DESCRIPTION:

In this collaborative program, APA members with specialized clinical expertise in working with diverse populations will discuss specific practice and training considerations. The purpose of this program is to examine factors that limit access to clinical care, explore how engaging trainees in diversity issues can help address these limitations, and enhance trainee competencies and employment opportunities. Furthermore, the unique perspective of each presenter, as influenced by their professional stage, will offer varied ways of thinking about training.

Topic 1: Increasing the Representation of Older Adults in Training Curricula

Presenter: Jacqueline S. Hogan, MS, Counseling Psychology PhD Student, University of Massachusetts Boston

Topic 2: Considerations for Working with Aging Veterans

Presenter: Kelly A. O'Malley, Ph.D., Clinical Director, CLC Mental Health Consultation-Liaison Service, VA Boston Healthcare System, Instructor, Department of Psychiatry, Harvard Medical School

Topic 3: Clinical practice, training, and advocacy for working with Asian/Asian Americans

Presenter: Mengchun Chiang, PhD, Counseling and Psychological Services, Carnegie Mellon University

Topic 4: Clinical practice, training, and advocacy for working with diverse groups of women

Presenter: Kalyani Gopal, PhD, HSPP

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

1. Identify 1-3 barriers to mental health care experienced by these diverse populations in clinical settings.
2. Apply 1-3 psychotherapy adaptations for working with these diverse populations in clinical settings
3. Develop at least one low-lift and innovative opportunities to enhance academic and clinical training for future generations of psychologists to overcome these barriers.
